STILL COMING IN.

Beasts of the Recent Cyclone in the South and Elsewhere.

Reports from South Carolina—Full Returns Not in Yet, but the Loss of Life and Property Heavy.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 25.—Further reports of the disastrous cyclone of Tuesday evening continue to be received from upper South Carolina. After striking near Charleston, in Anderson county, the storm traveled in a northeasterly course to Paris mountain, in Greenville county, the city of Greenville having a narrow escape. It path covered a belt of country about one-fourth of a mile in width, in which almost everything was blown down or leveled to the ground. Giant oaks and great forest pines and smaller growth were alike swept into piles, and the whole forest in the path of the cyclone was an almost impenetrable mass. By dwellers in the mountain side its coming is described as resembling the angry growl of some great animal. It was seen by them as it crossed the summit of the mountain between 7 and 8 o'clock, a dense rain-cloud, perfectly real and with familiar sound, and descending the mountain, it sped with fearful velocity, spreading destruction alike on the hills and in the ravines of the slope. From the top of the mountain its devastating work extended as far as has been heard from, to the neighborhood of Sunbury, Fla. In the upper section of the county, a distance of about ten miles.

The place of Green P. Pool was the first to come within its maw's embrace. His stable, crib, and other outbuildings were swept away, and the dwelling alone remained. The latter was occupied at the time by Mr. Pool, his grand-daughter, and a servant, and their escape was miraculous. A thick pine forest a few hundred yards off was literally torn up, and stumps and stems of the trees splintered with mud carried from an adjoining open field.

Within a distance of two miles in the main track of the cyclone at least a dozen farm-houses were destroyed or mangled. All the buildings of the Beechboro tannery were blown down. The residence of George W. Hawkins, near by, was blown down. Mr. Hawkins and family making a narrow escape. The building soon afterwards took fire and was consumed.

Considerable damage was done on the plantations of Hampton, Pool, W. P. Pool, Joseph and Oliver Bradley, and Miles Patton.

The residence of Furman M. Langley, in which the latter and family were dwelling, was completely demolished. Mr. Langley suffered considerable bruising and the breaking of three ribs in his left side, while his wife and three children miraculously escaped injury. Mr. Langley succeeded in extricating himself and family from the debris in time to escape the flames, which rapidly consumed what was left of the building. Where Mr. Langley's house stood there is not now left the level earth, while the lumber of his houses and his furniture and household effects are strewn for a mile farther.

In this locality the course of the cyclone was swiftest, and in many places the trees torn up by their roots and twisted off above the ground and piled and crossed in stacks that are almost impenetrable for many hundred yards without a break.

The house of Mr. John Bailey was blown down, and his wife and a 14-year-old son were instantly killed, the latter being blown about 300 yards.

The store of John Crutwell, fourteen miles above Greenville City, was blown down and his dwelling destroyed.

The cyclone which passed near Piedmont did much disastrous work. The dwelling and store of S. T. Moore, near Simpsonville, were blown down, his family making a narrow escape without serious injury.

In the same locality the house of Mr. Davis, colored, was demolished, and his wife and child killed. Davis' wife was blown away and has not been found.

All the out-buildings on the place of Dr. May, near by, in the same neighborhood, were blown to the ground, and a part of the dwelling of James R. Cox was swept away.

The number of smaller accidents and incidents is great, and altogether the work of the cyclone has exceeded anything of the kind that has ever before happened in this section.

Near Piedmont several dwellings burned after being blown down. John Hall's wife, his mother, and his two children were seriously injured. Sam Hickens, Jack Carter, and his wife and daughter, are all supposed to be fatally injured.

Near Seneca junction Miss Bruce, a school-girl, was killed by the chimney of a school-house falling on her. Miss Cole, another scholar, was hurt, but not fatally. Mrs. McGee, an old lady, had one arm broken.

In many localities there was heavy hail and rain, utterly annihilating small grain crops.

Two other victims of Mr. John Bailey, whose wife and son were killed, are reported to have received serious injuries, which will probably prove fatal. Owing to the tardiness of communication with remote country places information as to full results of the storm have not yet been received, and it is not unlikely that other serious accidents will be heard of.

Flood in New England.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 25.—The Connecticut river is nearly seven feet above low water mark. The meadows and lowlands at the south end are submerged. There is a bad windstorm at Southwick, and the river has risen about four feet here. The ice is beginning to break up and fears of a freshet are held.

Accidents.

AGUSTA, Me., March 25.—The tremendous snow on the ground has thawed so rapidly that washouts occur in the most unexpected places and of very large proportions. Trains are greatly delayed. The river has risen about four feet here. The ice is beginning to break up and fears of a freshet are held.

Dam.

DORRIS, March 25.—The flood at Augusta caused a total damage of $100,000, laying waste a track along a mile long and fifty to 200 feet wide. The water company whose bursting dam caused the damage, will be held responsible. It is alleged the dam was improperly constructed. The heaviest losses are the Dorris Bk. company and Schulz, Plater & Smith. High-wheel manufacturing, each losing $50,000 or $25,000.

North Carolina.

RALPH, N. C., March 25.—News received here of the storm was far worse than in North Carolina than at first thought. Fifty thousand dollars damage was done in the town of Newton, some of the best houses in the place being wrecked.

In Catawba county two women were killed. The cyclone swept through eight counties. It appears to have had three branches. It narrowly missed Charlotte. It went through Mecklenburg, Irwell, Moore and Caldwell counties. Many narrow escapes from death are reported. Houses were swept away like chaff. The woods are a wreck of fallen timber.

In Lenoir, Caldwell county, it is reported that the worst damage was done, and that six young ladies were killed in the ruins of houses.

In Jones county, in the extreme eastern part of the state, many houses were blown down. Some damage was done to farms and houses in Durham and Orange counties.

Colorado and Wyoming.

DENVER, Colo., March 25.—A disastrous gull-cyclone that had fatal results occurred in Colorado and Wyoming. At one time the wind blew at the rate of seventy miles an hour. The loss of property is estimated at $100,000. Besides this three men were killed just outside the city. One man was killed in his garden on a well. The wall fell on him, crushing him to death. Near Golden two boys were in their mother's house while she went to call on neighbors. The house was blown down and the boys were killed. Several houses were blown down in its vicinity. The roof of the new city-hall was blown off, as was that of the Moffet & Kassler block, together with those of other buildings. Several persons were badly injured, but it is thought none of these will die.

Death at St. Louis, Mo.

HAMILTON, Ohio, March 25.—The cyclone that destroyed the village of Seigo, Tuesday afternoon, besides killing Mr. Winston, fatally injured Mr. E. Kates and seriously hurt Mrs. Stevens. All were in the store at the time the building was down. The storm followed nearly in the track of another two years ago, across the country to Collinsville, tearing down all the fences and trees, and ruining many farm-houses and barns. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

AUGUSTUS SCHELL DEAD.

Sketch of the Life of the Eminent Politician and Business Man.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Augustus Schell, the well-known Democratic politician is dead. His family was about his bedside when he expired.

Augustus Schell was born in Rhinebeck, N. Y., in 1812. Having received an excellent preparatory education he entered Union college in the fall of 1832, and was graduated with high honors in 1835. He then came to New York city and at the celebrated Littlefield Law School in Connecticut, and was admitted to practice in New York state in 1837, settling in New York city, where, in connection with the various firms with which he has been connected, he has followed a lucrative practice, becoming especially distinguished for his knowledge of the law relating to real estate and corporations. He early became interested in politics, and was a member of the Tammany hall general committee.

During the administration of B. J. Fries, Schell was chairman of the Tammany hall general committee. In 1853, 1854, and 1855 he was chairman of the Democratic state convention. In 1857 he was with the entire concurrence of his party, appointed collector of the port of New York by President Buchanan, and discharged his official duties so satisfactorily as to elicit the warmest commendations from Secretary Cass on the integrity of the Lincoln administration.

In 1858 he was a member of the Democratic national committee, and presented to the national convention the famous resolution, which was adopted as the basis of the platform of the Democratic national committee, and as the ensuing election was as distinguished as in politics, and he was connected with many prominent railroads and other enterprises.

The Boom for the Militia.

CINCINNATI, March 25.—In the National Guard association convention, a committee of two was appointed to go to Washington and present the militia appropriation bill that is now before congress, and it was resolved that each company in every state be taxed $1 to defray the expenses of the committee. Strictly by the militia law of 1862, the militia law was adopted as the basis of the convention. Schell's bill, introduced into the house five days ago for the promotion of the United States militia, was warmly discussed at the meeting, and was adopted by the next meeting to Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 8, 1857. The following officers for the ensuing year were elected: Gen. G. W. Wiegman, New York, president; Gen. T. B. Hargraves, Louisiana, vice president; Gen. J. B. Alexander, Iowa, recording secretary; Col. Charles Bridge, New York, corresponding secretary; Gen. S. A. Stephens, California, treasurer; Charles Bridge, R. B. Martin and William W. Jacobs, executive committee.

Setting the Negro Problem by Mail.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Gen. T. B. Hargraves, Chairman of the Committee on the Militia, in his address to the convention of the American Methodist Episcopal church now in session in this city, in the interest of the militia he represents, presenting the claims of the militia law in course of construction by the people of African descent in the state of North Carolina, as a new departure conducive to a practical solution of the negro problem on this continent, without prejudice to any interest or violence to any conviction, possessing the germs of a material prosperity sufficient to invite the co-operation of all good men of every party and creed, irrespective of color.

The board of trustees of the American Methodist Episcopal church now in session in this city, in the interest of the militia he represents, presenting the claims of the militia law in course of construction by the people of African descent in the state of North Carolina, as a new departure conducive to a practical solution of the negro problem on this continent, without prejudice to any interest or violence to any conviction, possessing the germs of a material prosperity sufficient to invite the co-operation of all good men of every party and creed, irrespective of color.

Killed His Wife's Paramour.

WASHINGTON CITY, March 25.—A man named Kersher, living at Seventh and D streets, southeast, killed a man's wife in his wife's bedroom. Procuring a hatchet he burst the door of his wife's room open, and found a man named Grimes locked in a closet. Kersher shot Grimes three times, once in the head and twice in the breast, killing him. Kersher was arrested, and Grimes' body lies in Kersher's house awaiting the coroner. Both men were white.

Charged with Express Robbery.

DORRIS, March 25.—Theodore A. Perry, alias Al Little, has been arrested here charged with the robbery of $1,771 from the Missouri Pacific Express company in a car on the Wichita, St. Louis & Pacific railroad at Rolan, Ind., Sept. 27, in connection with Hurt Loomis, express messenger, and Deane Downer. A reward of $1,000 was offered for his arrest.

The Sentences Criminal Fool.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Rose Robinson, a young colored woman, 23 years old, was shot in the back left breast and arm, by Charles A. Still, a colored waiter, employed in Gould's concert-room. The cause of the shooting is said to be jealousy. Still was arrested and the wounded girl taken to the hospital in precarious condition.

False Report Denied.

DAYTON, Ohio, March 25.—A special from St. Paul, Minn., announcing the capture of Michael Olin, of this city, by the Turtle Mountain Indians, who are said to hold him for ransom, is false in every particular. Letters have been received daily by his family, and a dispatch received from John Olin, at Devil's lake, says his father is all right.

The Use of Ely's Cream Balm.

A Life Daily Assured.

A resident of Bangor, Maine, writing to C. N. Conditon, New York, for supply of Ely's Cream Balm, says that three months ago a New England life-insurance company refused to grant him a policy on the ground that he was consumptive. "But," he adds, "thanks to the healing properties of that invaluable preparation, my lungs are now perfectly sound, and I yesterday passed a medical examination without an objection, and insured my life for $5000. Of druggists generally."

A Grand Discovery.

Mr. Wm. Thomas, of Newton, Iowa, says: "My wife has been seriously afflicted with a cough for twenty-five years, and this spring more severely than ever before. She had nearly made up her mind to give up, and being urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery, did so, with most gratifying results. The first bottle relieved her very much, and the second bottle has absolutely cured her. She has not had so good health for thirty years."

TILDEN'S ROBUSTITUDE.

Another Account of the Health of Samuel J. Tilden.

His Declination or a Nomination Declared, However, to Be Sincere—Other Political Facts and Fancies.

NEW YORK, March 25.—The World contains an interview with a person who is Mr. Tilden's most intimate friend and constant associate regarding Tilden's health and condition. The interview was inspired by a recent statement describing Tilden as being in extreme physical debility, much emaciated, having to resort to narcotics to aid him in sleep, and referring to his paralyzed condition and feeble voice. Mr. Tilden's friend says: "This statement is almost absolute fiction. Mr. Tilden weighs between 125 and 130 pounds. He has known him forty years, and his present weight is what it has averaged since he grew to manhood. He has not taken narcotics for years, and never was in the habit of doing so. He is not paralyzed. He has rheumatic affection of some of the fingers of the left hand, and is sometimes subject to a tremor of his hands, but generally it is not sufficient to prevent him from writing his signature. I happen to know that he lately added his signature 400 times in one day. His hands are not shaking, are unusually active, and his eyes are something wonderful. He reads from three to five hours every evening, besides what he does in the daytime. He has a quick and erect walk, and does not mind going up three or four flights of stairs. His voice is hoarse by reason of the vocal cords, which increases when he is fatigued. Medical men say that the tremor of his hand does not touch any of his power. His hands are strong, his interests, and is called on to advise in matters of importance in which he has been long connected. He selects, buys and reads more books probably than any private gentleman in this city."

Hamilton's Withdrawal.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., March 25.—The withdrawal of Governor Hamilton from the candidacy for governor has been almost absorbing theme. Politicians of both wings of the Republican party have expressed their admiration and sympathy for him. They praise his latter withdrawal with unfeigned warmth as a bold, manly, and in good spirit, and replete with sound sense and patriotism. A very prominent and active Oglesby man said: "Our hands are extended to Governor Hamilton, and we are glad to have him stand in the with us. He is a force for good, and we will give him a lift whenever we can." The governor views the situation philosophically, and is quite cheerful. He feels that he has freed himself from an onerous and with great anxiety, but he is glad to carry on. On every hand he is the recipient of congratulations and sympathy.

For Arthur for President.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Following the surprising declaration of The Commercial Advertiser in favor of Arthur's re-nomination, The Mail and Express announces a similar preference. This paper, heretofore Democratic, says it is now independent, and regards it as its duty to "oppose and denounce unfair, malicious, and unprincipled journalism that has been pursuing the line of the administration, and the federal government ever enjoyed." After thus discussing the conservative and wildest arguments of Arthur the paper says that if he were re-nominated he would get from 10,000 to 15,000 Democratic votes in this city against any Democratic candidate, and while disclaiming interest in the fortunes of politicians it utters warning that a country that does not appreciate and reward a good administration will not long enjoy one.

John Kelly on the Census.

NEW YORK, March 25.—John Kelly, when asked his opinion of the census of the house Democrats on the tariff, said: "I do not like it. The Democratic party over since the war has been demanding in its platform a revenue reduction. They have heretofore been defeated by the power of monopolies; but now, when the issue was made up and the time was unquestionably ripe for successful action, they flunk and temporize until they are substantially by throwing the case into the hands of the minority. I doubt if any bill will pass. The only proper Democratic position was to take the moderate and sensible ground originally taken by the Morrison bill, and then stand without flinching."

The Founding of Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 25.—The Maryland Historical society celebrated the 250th anniversary of the founding of Maryland. The principal address was made by Capt. T. C. Tripp, who traced the growth of the state from the day on which the handful of our forefathers landed and settled in St. Mary's county up to the present time. Addresses were also made by Gen. Bradley T. Johnson and Congressman Findley. On behalf of the parish of St. Marys Gen. Johnson presented to the society a garland made from the wood of the mulberry tree under which, according to tradition, the colonists signed a treaty with the Indians and purchased from them the land on which they settled.

Between three and four hundred Insurance Companies in this country have gone to the wall—either failed outright or re-insured their risks and retired from the field since 1870, and more of the weaklings will go year by year. vested clothiers; have now on exhibition a choice stock of spring and summer goods, embracing the very latest styles. Their goods will stand the very closest inspection, and as to prices, they always sell at the very lowest living rates. In their custom department, their line of cloths is complete, and they keep one of the best cutters at the head of this branch of their business, and employ none but first class workmen, that they can guarantee perfect satisfaction in their garments. The firm is too well known in Rock county to require anything more than the mere announcement that their goods for the early season have arrived, and that they are now ready to receive calls from their many customers. —Burglars are at work in Beloit. On Wednesday the residence of M. D. Clark was entered and a gold watch, a pocket book and some clothing taken from his sleeping apartment. The thieves entered the house through a bay window, the blinds of which had been removed as the house is being painted, and took the watch and wallet from Mr. Clark's sleeping room. Two ladies' cloaks, an overcoat, and a gossamer were taken from the hall rack, and the door leading from the sitting room, which adjoins Mr. Clark's sleeping room, into the hall was found locked from the hall side. The burglarious work was not discovered until morning, when the overcoat and gossamer were found in a yard near the house, and one of the cloaks was found in the city park.

Plantation Java. There has been considerable excitement recently in the wholesale coffee market in the business centers, owing to a sudden decline in prices. One of the causes of this sudden decline is said to be due to the accumulation of large stocks in the hands of wholesale dealers, which is general throughout the world. There are now many grades of coffee offered consumers much of which is unworthy the name of coffee. There is nothing perhaps, excepting it be a handsome baby, which is conducive of as much joy and happiness in a well regulated family, than to have the breakfast table supplied with a delicious cup of coffee for those who are accustomed to its use. Messrs. Bell, Conrad & Co., of Chicago, seem to have struck a popular chord when they secured a corner on Government plantation coffee, with which they are just now supplying the country dealers. This plantation Java is of the finest quality, as to fragrance and strength, exceeding all other grades, and is for sale in this city by Messrs. Conrad & Jones; W. T. Vankirk; Ball & Bates; W. F. Carle; Davies Bros.; S. Holdredge, and Tarrant & Osgood. It is worthy of a trial, and once tried will become a household favorite.

Among the Politics of the Age which the introduction of SOZODONT long since exploded, was the use of abrasive and corrosive tooth preparations, which either contained minerals which scratched their enamel, or acids which dissolved it. SOZODONT, a health promoting substitute for these articles, is a botanic, skillfully prepared, highly-scented preparation, which not only beautifies, cleanses and invigorates the soft-colored and delicate teeth, but dresses the breath of an objectionable odor and restores to it that of health.

What is Up? That was the question asked by many people this forenoon, upon noticing a large number of citizens congregated at a certain place on River street this morning, especially when it became evident that all of them were deeply interested in opposing the high license movement. There were not fifty persons in the crowd, but we have no doubt, by the appearance of their personal make up that number was represented. They quietly met, held their meeting or consultation, and as quietly dispersed, which lead outsiders to believe that some kind of a concerted action was being planned for to defeat any candidate for office who favored an increase of the saloon license. It may be that a majority of the people in this city are against an increase of the saloon license, and that they do not believe we have too many saloons; but if we are any judge of public sentiment, we think the low license men, and those who are opposed to a reduction of the number of saloons, will be easily disappointed on Tuesday next when the ballots are counted and the result proclaimed. At the same time, we would urge the friends of the republican candidates to roll up their sleeves and go to work, as there is much missionary labor to be performed before the polls are closed. If the work is complete and thorough, there will be no doubt about the final result.

The Mutual Protection Association. The adjourned annual meeting of the mutual protection association was held last evening. The president being absent, Dr. Henry Palmer was elected chairman. Messrs. E. D. Cox, of Whitewater, and Robert Williams, of Milton, were elected charter members.

Mr. C. Keeler and Wm. Rager were elected directors for three years. The following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year: President—M. C. Smith. Vice President—James Menzies. Secretary—J. G. Saxe. Treasurer—S. C. Cobb. Medical Director—Dr. Henry Palmer. The annual report of the treasurer was read and adopted, as was the report of the secretary.

The charter members congratulated themselves that the association was in such a flourishing condition, being pleased with the result of Mr. Saxe's labors since last May, at which time he was first elected secretary and superintendent of agencies. There is now more money in the treasury than has been at any time since the organization of the association.

THINGS THAT BIND.

JACOBS-CASADY. The marriage of Miss Ella Casady, formerly of this city, and Mr. William Jacobs, of Milwaukee, took place at Madison on Thursday. The following particulars are obtained from the State Journal:

Mr. Wm. Jacobs and Miss Ella Casady were married at the pleasant home of the bride's parents, on Mendota ridge, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, the ceremony being gracefully performed by Rev. Dr. C. H. Richards, pastor of the First Congregational church of this city. The contracting parties were unattended. The wedding was very quiet, only relatives and the most intimate friends of the young people being present. The bride appeared very pretty in an elegant toilet of cream silk, embroidered in chrysanthemum and pearls, and trimmed with duchesse lace. Her ornaments were diamonds. The groom wore a full dress suit. The presents were numerous, beautiful and valuable, testifying to the high regard in which the young people are held by their friends.

The groom is the only son of Dr. Wm. Jacobs, president of the Capital City Bank, and is a young man who is well known in this city, in which he was reared. For a year or two past he has resided in Milwaukee, occupying a responsible position in the general offices of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway company. In that city he has formed many acquaintances and a delegation of his warm friends were present at the wedding.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Associate Justice J. B. Casaday, of the state supreme court, and, although she has resided in Madison but a comparatively brief period, she has by her many good qualities endeared herself to a large circle of young people, who, while they deeply regret her departure from among them, yet wish her all happiness in her new relation. A number of her friends from Janesville, her former home, attended the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs departed for Chicago, at 4:20 this afternoon, via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, and their bridal tour will embrace a visit to St. Louis, Omaha, and possibly a trip through the south. Their future home will be in Milwaukee.

Among the guests from abroad were Mr. C. M. Hanchett and family, Mr. A. E. Burpee and wife, N. C. Clark, and Arthur Wheelock, all of Janesville; the Hon. Jesse Spalding and wife, of Chicago; the Hon. E. D. Cox and wife, of Whitewater; and Mr. and Mrs. Broke, of Bloomington, Illinois.

Chronic Constipation Cured by Brewster's Pills.

BULLY BREWSTER'S PILLS, ANTI-ANAL, January 24, 1883. For the last two years I have been greatly troubled with constipation, often to the extent of standing without any movement of my bowels. I have tried many remedies, but none with success, until I used your VEGETABLE PILLS—taking three pills and increasing one each night until I took nine, then decreasing one each night. Since then my bowels have continued regular each day, and my headache, sour stomach, and general lassitude have left me, and I feel like another man—what is entirely owing to your pills—and I would not be without them in this new country.

Please take notice that the nomination as candidate for the office of Justice of the Peace, tendered to me by the late city convention of said party, is most respectfully declined.

M. M. PHILLIPS.

Rev. G. H. Washington, Kent county, Md., hardly did justice to himself, through kindness shown one of his flock, yet he has the satisfaction of knowing that ANTI-SALTOONISM enabled him to act the good Samaritan's part, and he cheerfully writes: "Had two bottles of ANTI-SALTOONISM, which I intended using for the cure of a lady member of my church, who was a great proponent of the cause. It did her so much good that I had to part with the other bottle also."

He Can't Accept.

As I expect to change my residence in a few days from the second ward to the third, I cannot accept the nomination for alderman of that ward on the high license ticket. I advise my friends to support Mr. S. Clark Burham for alderman of the second ward.

Gus Williams.

The next entertainment at Myers opera house will be that of Gus Williams, who will appear on Tuesday evening April 1st, in the favorite drama, "One of the Finest." The Indianapolis News, of September 21st, speaking of Mr. Williams and the play says:—

Gus Williams drew an immense audience last night at England's opera house as John Maber, the benevolent German policeman, in "One of the Finest." Standing room only, and not much of that, would have been a proper announcement of the condition of affairs at England's last evening up stairs and down, when Gus Williams presented for the first time in this city, "One of the Finest." From orchestra to gallery there was but a few vacant seats, and rows stood up in the upper galleries. The drama, a story of the pavements of New York, consists of a prologue and three acts. There is a good plot, and the interest of the principal subject, of which is the presentation of Mr. Williams in the character of a jolly German policeman, which he does well to the utmost satisfaction of the audience. From the opening to the close of the play there was a continuous laughter and applause. Mr. DeLoz Kine as "Mort. Devine," the member, to use his own words, "hit 'em hard." There were several scenes of familiar localities in New York, that of Rock Slip at night, with a view of the Brooklyn Bridge being most noteworthy. In all the play was splendidly mounted. Gus Williams in this play has both fame and fortune, and as a gentleman and artist is fully entitled to it. Mr. Williams will appear at the house in "One of the Finest" for two nights more with grand matinee Saturday.

A Temperate but Satisfying Drink.

There has been of late a demand for roasted coffee of the finest quality as to bouquet and strength in the cup. Dealers, in their efforts to supply this demand, have ordered all sorts of combinations, such as Mocha and Java, Mocha and Java, &c., &c., without obtaining the elixir they sought. We take pleasure in informing our readers that after many years of search in the markets of the world, we have secured the best, the most enterprising and reliable tea, coffee and spice men of Chicago, have secured a coffee that is a breakfast in itself. This coffee is their Plantation Java, which we take pleasure in recommending to our readers as the finest coffee grown, possessing strength and flavor, the two essentials of a perfect coffee. This Plantation Java is strictly a private growth, and by special arrangement Messrs. Bell, Conrad & Co. will control all that grows in the country. The coffee to suit the most fastidious consumer or the money will be refunded.

What Cable Ties in You.

Mr. Cable is now about to write some sketches dealing with life in the Arcadian districts. He has lately come into possession of some curious old manuscripts, one of which is very enthusiastic. One is the autobiography, in her own handwriting, of a young French countess, whose father and mother were killed during the reign of terror. She was brought up by a guardian, the countess, whose son she afterwards married, and they came to live in Louisiana. Another manuscript is the life account of an intelligent white woman who lived twenty-five years as a slave and was discovered by her relatives in her childhood and having been carried off when a child, she was sold to the journal of a spirited Union woman who, in the hot-bed of slavery and secession, with no one to whom she could speak a word, wrote her description of things seen and heard about her and her reflections upon them.

"I make my fancy bound and leap," said Mr. Cable, "as I see wherever I go the amount of splendid and interesting material dealing with the early history of the country and throwing light upon the present, which is ready for the novelist's and writer's hands."

"All Kivered Up."

Our backwoods "American cousin" had come to the city of New York and had heard of Vesuvius. Noticing that travelers all around him went to Pompeii, he considered it the correct thing for him to do. He had been here two weeks and had never put a single cent in his pocket, so he decided when he arrived there, entering it by the marriage gate, down which poured the commerce of Pompeii eighteen centuries ago, he was all taken up with the ruins of houses belonging to the great and the small of the world. He for once forgot his ignorance, and with an air of surprise, horror, and almost stupefaction, he exclaimed: "What on earth's the matter with this place? Some kind of wrong here! Why, it seems all lived up, and the people are all there!" It has been, the laughing joke with his companions ever since. But his shrewdness and native wit, as a general thing, kept him even with the John Bull's who surround him.

The Kind That Saved Rome.

A farmer near Wadesboro, N. C., guards his woodpile during the night by a noisy cat named "Old Tom," for water and food, which he ties to one of the logs. When any one enters the yard the "cat" sets up a vigorous squawking, thereby arousing its master, who seizes a shotgun and protects his property.
